Netherlands

Level of difficulty

Makkelijk

Just a stone's throw from Valkenburg is the beautiful Geulpark, a nature reserve where the Geul finds its way through the shady valley and where a wealth of plants grows on the marl-rich soil. On this walking route via the red posts, you will also see the beautiful castles of Schaloen, with its pointed towers, and Oost, in the middle of its chic landscaped garden. Children have a great time playing with the sand, the water and the huts along the Geul at the Geulpark nature playground. You can park at one of the many parking facilities in Valkenburg and you never have to search long for a nice cafe or terrace in the cozy marl town.
