For tourists, as well as the people from Limburg, The Belgian Beer Route (Belgische Pinten Route) is ideal for a chilled day out in the Flemish Voer region and the Land of Herve, in Wallonia. Here, you will discover a quite unknown part of Belgium. This route starts at the Dutch-Belgian border at the hamlet of Ulvend.

An idyllic place to take a break is the Abbey of Val Dieu. This abbey is one of the most remarkable religious buildings in the Land of Herve. The courtyard, the basilica and the monumental park are open to the public. The outdoor café on the courtyard offers drinks and snacks.
