The Ommetje Genhout is an almost 8 km long walking route in and around Genhout. In this walking route, the former border between the Spanish and the Dutch Netherlands has been made visible with border markers.

You will also discover the church in Genhout, dedicated to Saint Hubertus, dating from 1937. It was built under the direction of architect Alphons Boosten from Maastricht.

Because of the large number of artists who contributed to the realization of this building, the church is also called the artist's church. You can park at this special church. The route can be followed via the special Ommetje Genhout signs.
