Makkelijk

The Genhout route largely runs over a plateau, which ensures that you have a huge view of many kilometers all around you.

You have a magnificent view of the village of Beek and Groot-Genhout, where the graceful Sint Hubertuskerk towers above the village. You wouldn't expect it from the area near the DSM and Maastricht-Aachen Airport, but this walking route also leads right through a region where farms and meadows color the picture.

You follow the route via the black posts and end a nice walk with a snack and a drink on the terrace of café-restaurant Aan de Meule, within sight of the Sint Hubertus mill. You can also park here.
