The hilly surroundings of Voerendaal offer beautiful views that you can enjoy during this walk. The Romans also thought that it is a good place to be. In Voerendaal you can still walk around in Roman gardens, taste Roman wine and continue your way along an ancient Roman route. Straight through what is now Voerendaal, the Romans built a major road, the Via Belgica. In the vicinity of this they built the largest villa that has been found in our country, they cleared fields for large-scale grain cultivation and left behind beautiful finds. Please note, this route is not signposted. For more information about the Roman past, click here or visit the Via Belgica website.
