The Ommetje Segieterre is a walking experience in which the South Limburg landscape shows itself at its best. This walking route goes over narrow roads between the fields, from where you have a wide view of the hills around you. Here and there you will find graceful roadside crosses and chapels or authentic half-timbered farmhouses. The center of Sint Geertruid is also worth a visit, if only for its delicious regional products. After your hike you can go to one of the terraces of the village. Parking is also easy in Sint Geertruid. You follow this walking route via the white walking posts.
