There is a lot to experience in Valkenburg. This walking route takes you through the beautiful marl town itself. Through the center, past the Steenkolenmijn and MergelRijk, not a single corner of Valkenburg will remain unknown after this walk.

The Valkenburg ruins, a fortified castle with a rich history that is rare for the Netherlands, is also on the road. You walk along the Sibbergrubbe, an ascent in the form of a sunken road — not a steep one, but a nice slope for any hiker.

The blue posts point you in the right direction. Parking is possible at one of the many places in Valkenburg aan de Geul.
