Langs de oorsprong van de steenkoolwinning Kerkrade Mijnroute 1

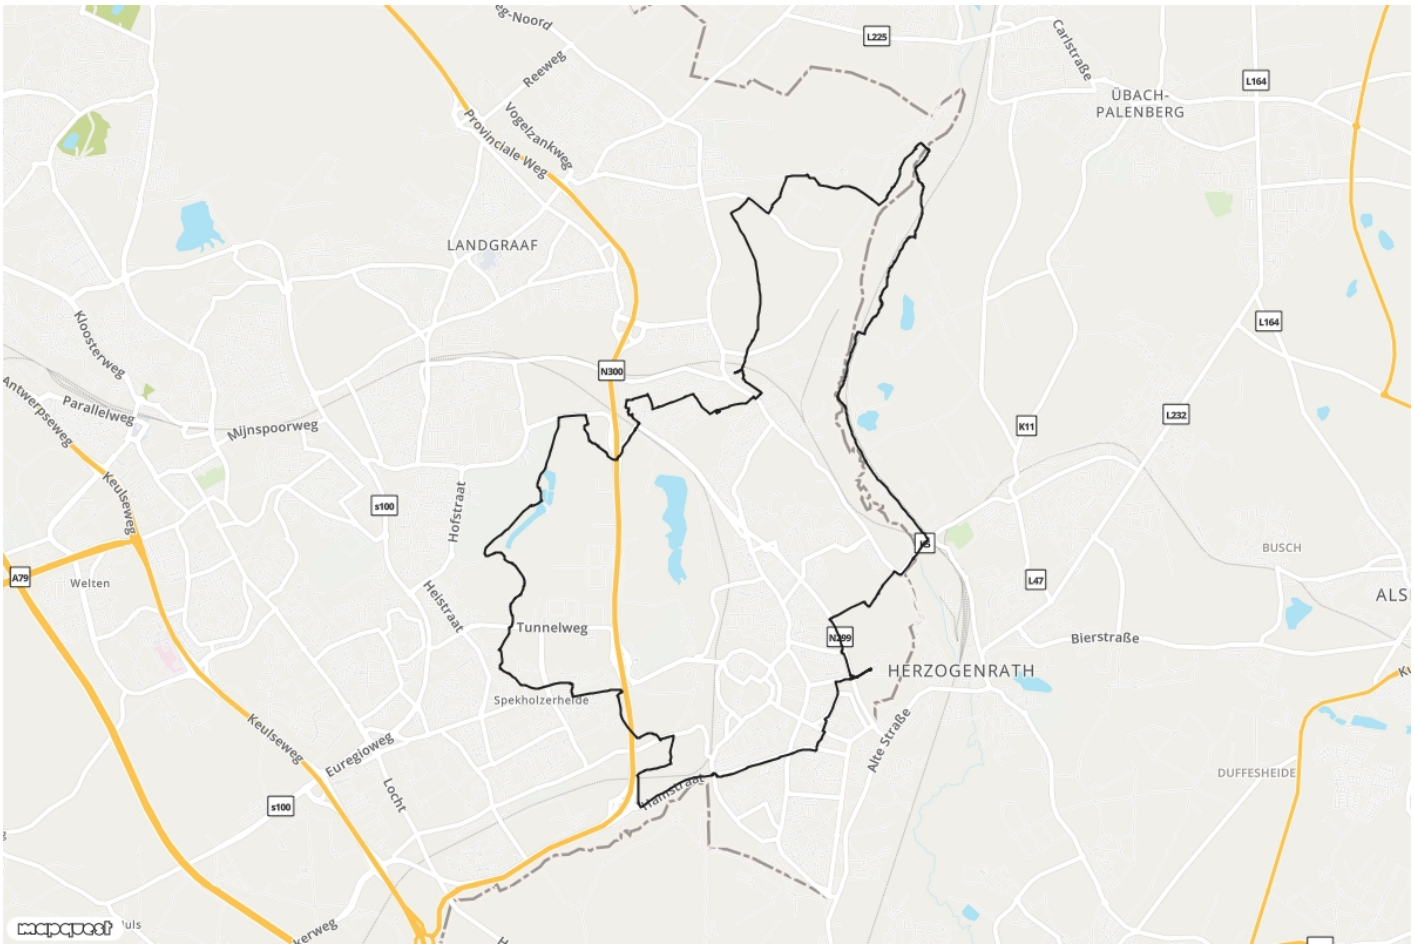

Cycle route
25.7 km

Start- and endpoint
Heyendallaan 54A, 6464 EP Kerkrade, Netherlands

Level of difficulty
Gemiddeld

The city of Kerkrade has always been a mining town in heart and soul, and although the city has kept abreast with the times since the mines closed, and nowadays has much more to offer, the people still proudly boast its mining history. Therefore, in the Year of the Mines (2015), the launch of a beautiful and interesting cycle route along the origins of coal mining, was self-evident.
This route is one out of a series of four, which together cover most of the Western and Eastern Mining District.
